I first learned about Piktochart when I saw them at RDRC few years back, they were sponsors 2 years in a row. I was proud and happy to see a Malaysian startup making its mark overseas and contributing back to the Ruby community, nurturing the next generation of engineers that will be the powerhouse of future startups.

Today I'm very proud to present Piktochart as one of our sponsors for RubyConf KL! A great big shout out to them for being such an awesome company!

If you're looking for a job look no further. They have a bunch of open positions including UI, Front & Backend Developers. Check them out at https://piktochart.com/careers/
